(1) Check off each work of art that you find.

(2) If the art work shows a being, is that being is human or divine? If they are human, are they ordinary humans, or are they partly divine? If they are gods or goddesses or deities, how divine are they? (Some gods and goddesses are a lot like humans, some are so divine we humans can barely know them.) How human or how divine does the artist make this being appear?

OR if the art work shows an object, is that object divine or ordinary? How ordinary or how divine does the artist make this object appear?

(3) Then rate each being or object on the "divinity scale":

12	234	567	-8
Human	Divine human	Human-like god	Unknowable god
Ordinary ob	ject		Divine object

Buddhism

Buddha from Afghanistan Based on what you see and know, how divine is this being?

Boddhisatva from Korea Based on what you see and know, how divine is this being?

____ Tara from Tibet (Boddhisatva Mahashri Tara) Based on what you see and know, how divine is this being?

Buddha from Indonesia Based on what you see and know, how divine is this being?

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 Human Divine human Human-like god Unknowable god